

DAVID PEARL

Agent: Julian Alexander

David Pearl draws on his eclectic experience of the creative disciplines to help businesses around the world be more inspired and inspiring.

In 1995 he was asked by one of the world's leading professional service firms to create a revolutionary personal and professional development program for their top 1000 people. The success of the program marked the beginning of David's career with large corporate businesses. Nearly 1000 projects later, he and his group have an international reputation for pioneering work with businesses and those who work in them. Clients he has worked with include GSK, BP, Unilever, Oracle, Dell & Disney.

In Will There Be Donuts? (Harper Collins, 2012) David helps you reclaim your working life and make meetings 100% more effective. The book is about the big mistake that almost all companies are going to make this year. And the next. And the one after that – nearly meeting. It happens the length and breadth of the business world, from boardroom to shop floor. At every level of an organisation, not just the very top. If meetings are ineffective then it's likely that business is too. Will There Be Donuts? seeks to reinvigorate individuals into really meeting.